

Moore Honey House

case study
By Lauren Mears

Location: Cashiers, NC

Architect: Marlon Blackwell

Owner: The Moore Family

Year of completion: 1998

Climate: Marine West Coast Climate

Material of interest: Steel

Application: Interior shelves

Properties of material: Although the material creates a storage place for honey, it also acts as an interesting façade as a result of the transparent glass wall behind it.

Sources:

architect website: www.marlonblackwell.com