

Bank of Georgia Headquarters

case study
By Cameron McRae

Location: Tbilisi, Georgia

Architect: Architectural Group & Partners, Tbilisi

Owner: Bank of Georgia

Year of completion: 2011

Climate: Moderately Humid Subtropical Climate

Material of interest: Translucent Concrete, LUCEM

Application: Exterior / Interior

Properties of material: The material is a translucent concrete that allows light to pass through the embedded optical fibers.

Sources:

Manufacturer Website: www.lucem.de

<http://www.archdaily.com/228934/new-headquarters-of-bank-of-georgia-illuminated-translucent-concrete-for-interior-design-architectural-group-partners/>