

House in Somosaguas II

case study
By Ziwen Wang

Location: Somosaguas, Pozuelo de Alarcón, Spain

Architect: A-cero
- Joaquin Torres

Owner: N/A

Year of completion: 2007

Climate: cold semi-arid climate

Material of interest: Stone as slab

Application: Exterior/Interior

Properties of material:

The exterior walls are made of travertine Roman marble.

In most of the interior spaces the floors are finished in black granite, while in some points in the first floor the travertine marble is used too in order to give unit to the housing set.

Sources:

ArchDaily Website: <http://www.archdaily.com/51547/house-in-somosaguas-ii-a-cero>